Bokashi Organko Essential

Bokashi Organko Essential is a result of our customers' needs and our company's evolution. Of course, it follows our standard when ensuring that our products are environmentally friendly. At the same time, it incorporates all the features required to make indoor composting a pleasant and effortless experience for users. On top of that, it looks fantastic and its dishwasher safe.

With its 35.2-by-30.2-by-31.5 centimeter dimensions and a 15.3-liter volume, it is made for families. It comes in three different models. The basic model - a composter - is made for those who want to live more sustainably and reduce their organic waste by 25%. The second model comes with the base at the bottom, making the bokashi liquid's draining even simpler. It is suitable for gardeners. The third variant comes with two composters suitable for those who want to build an all-season composting solution. In one composter, you can ferment the organic waste, but in the meantime, collect your daily organic waste in the other. As far as the color goes, Bokashi Organko Essential comes in a stylish grey and black combination.
